

Issues during the last few days

Hi everyone..

We had an issue on the website which caused catcher to fail when starting up. Catcher checks internet connection when you start it by grabbing a dummy webpage. When succesfull, catcher knows the DNS and internet settings are configured correctly. For some reason a ModSecurity was enabled which started blocking connections to the website, failing the dummy page test. The mod has now been tweaked so this should not happen again.

Sorry for any problems this might have caused.
